英语自我介绍

Good morning/afternoon，professors。It is my honor to be interviewed here today. My name is 蒋守佳，I am 23 years old. I was born an raised in Heze where you can find many delicious food. I majored in Information Technology at YunNan University. Then I will introduce myself from three respects, my college life, my research experience and my postgraduate plan.

During four-year college lives,I always take study seriously and did well in most of my specialized courses. And I got some precious learning experience. Except daily study, I also like to participate in some competitions which related to my major,and I have made some achivements.

In spare time, I would like to listen to music and play basketball with friends, these activities will give me the chance to relax.

when I was a junior，my friends and i successfully applied for a university level science & technology innovation project. I was reponsible for the functional test and data analysis. from this experience, I learned a lot of research methods and thinking modes。

In my four years of undergraduate studies, I gradually realized that the knowledge and skills acquired inn college were not enough to fullfill my personal goals. That why I decided to continue to studying at your university.

if I were admitted, I would focus on the study and research of this field. I wolud also improve my academic skills and literature reading ability both in Chinese and in english,and get valuable academic achievements under mentors guidence. And that's my self-introduction. thank you.
